

PEACE: THE SECOND SUNDAY OF ADVENT

By: Bishop E. Anne Henning Byfield

READER ONE: We wake up every day in unpeace, broken situations, and social media confusion.

READER TWO: We are facing violence in our communities perpetuated by evil in high places, living between the evil of white supremacy and urban destruction.

READER THREE: Hatred undergirds our thoughts, guns are the defense mechanisms, and daily our families face threats of death.

ALL READERS: In the midst of unpeace, we light the candle of Shalom, for Jesus is the prince of peace. Be not afraid, peace is ever nigh.
